

Environment Waikato Testimonial for Awake

"The purpose of the survey was to measure staff attitudes to sustainability, in order to determine where we should focus our efforts; in terms of engaging staff and providing support systems to enable sustainable behaviours. Tim designed the survey questions for us to enable analysis according to various categories of power, responsibility and control. The results of the survey have provided powerful information to take to our senior management and demonstrate to them that sustainability is important to our employees. I believe this has helped engage these managers and make them more sympathetic to our internal sustainability efforts. I was impressed with Tim's professional approach to this work and would not hesitate to recommend his services other organisations."
